Fund objective

The Fund’s investment objective is to provide capital growth, to outperform and decrease in volatility with respect the crypto currency Bitcoin over the medium to long term. The strategy is based on an in & out trading activity that operates rigorously following the signals that arrive from a trading algorithm. The strategy itself is the result of an empirical analysis of the underlying observation over a period of 5 years. The fund is Eur based currency, it will not use derivatives, and it will not perform leveraged investments.

Fund moves

The month of June began with the fund fully invested in Bitcoin. The BTC/USD experienced a moderate rise of more than 3% during the month but at the same time Usd lost more than 3.5% versus the Eur. These movements occurred against a backdrop of major central bank decisions, persistent geopolitical tensions, and evolving global economic risks. BTC/EUR is derived from BTC/USD and EUR/USD. With Bitcoin consolidating in USD terms and the Euro strengthening against the dollar, BTC/EUR gains were more muted than BTC/USD.

Hence, Bitcoin’s June price action was characterized by a period of consolidation, with Bitcoin trading within a volatility channel bounded by 87’800 Eur (support) and 96’700 Eur (resistance).

Drivers of Bitcoin Price Action

- ETF Inflows: Continued, though at a slower pace than earlier in the year, supporting price stability above $100,000.
- Institutional Adoption: Ongoing, with events such as the approval of new crypto ETFs and major financial conferences in Europe.
- Market Sentiment: Cautious optimism, with technical analysts highlighting the importance of holding above $102,000 to maintain the bullish outlook

Macroeconomic and Geopolitical Context

- Federal Reserve (Fed) Policy

Fed Rate Decision (June 2025): The Federal Reserve kept its key interest rate unchanged at 4.25%–4.50% for the fourth consecutive meeting citing persistent inflationary pressures, ongoing economic uncertainty due to the impact of new US tariffs. The Fed signaled the possibility of two rate cuts later in 2025, but policymakers remain divided, with some members advocating no cuts this year.

▪ European Central Bank (ECB) Policy

ECB Rate Cut (June 5, 2025): The ECB reduced its deposit facility rate by 25 basis points to 2.00%, citing lower inflation and a stronger euro. The ECB projects 0.9% GDP growth for 2025 and inflation at 2.0%, with risks from trade tensions and global uncertainty. The Euro strengthened following the rate cut, as markets viewed the move as a sign of confidence in the Eurozone’s inflation outlook.

▪ Geopolitical Developments

Middle East Tensions: June saw a sharp escalation in the Israeli Iranian conflict, with Israeli strikes on Iranian nuclear sites and subsequent Iranian retaliation. US involvement heightened global energy supply risks and contributed to market volatility.

▪ Global Markets

Energy Markets: Oil prices rose on fears of supply disruptions, adding to inflationary pressures and influencing central bank policy stances.

Global Trade Uncertainty: The reintroduction of US tariffs and ongoing trade disputes created a challenging environment for global growth, with advanced economies experiencing higher default rates and sector downgrades.

Considering all these facts, Bitcoin’s resilience above $100,000 was seen as a sign of institutional support. This suggests potential for further gains in July, provided support at 102’000 Usd holds. Accordingly, the fund maintained a tactical long position.
